A MESSAGE FROM THE SPIRITUAL DIRECTOR

IN THIS ISSUE

He Is Risen!

In His dialogues with Jewish Leaders in St. John's Gospel, Jesus at one point tells them: "Before Abraham came to be, I am." A most stunning assertion. It is a claim that could only be made by God, or by a madman. The Jews clearly understood what Jesus was claiming. Their response was to try to stone him. In reply, Jesus says: "Let my works testify to the truth of my words." In other words, my actions will speak louder than my words. What actions? Jesus is referring to his miracles. There had been numerous healings, the feeding of the multitudes, and at least two instances of people being brought back from the grave: the daughter of Jairus and of course Lazarus.

But the greatest miracle validating Jesus' message and identity was yet to come. He was placed in the grave on Good Friday evening. Then, "they closed the tomb and all withdrew," as the Scripture says. What would happen next?

Our entire faith depends on what happened next. Christ rose from the dead and came forth from the tomb. This final miracle validates His entire message and His person. As St. Paul writes to the Corinthians: "If Christ was not raised to life, our message is worthless and so is your faith." Pretty strong words, but they serve to underscore the importance of Easter. Without the Resurrection of Jesus, there is no Christianity. It is the central belief of our Faith.

As if all this were not enough, there is even more as it affects you and me. This God who became one of us to save us has also invited us to share in His victory over death. As members of His Body, when something happens to Christ, it also happens to us. Jesus suffers, we suffer. Jesus dies, we die. Jesus rises from the dead, so do we. All that is necessary for this to happen is our willingness to go along. Mother Teresa famously called this "giving God permission."

Giving God permission means welcoming the Incarnation into our lives. It's what the "fourth day" is all about: making God the center of our living, our breathing and our striving. God is not "out there." God is at the very depth of our being. Loving us and saving us. Well do we say Alleluia!

A MESSAGE FROM THE LAY DIRECTOR

Sunday, April 13, 2014

Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ,

As we leave the winter behind us, and look forward to the revitalization we feel when Spring weather truly arrives, I am reminded of a passage in Matthew Kelly's book "Rediscover Catholicism".

"God never goes back; he always moves forward. Adam and Eve were banished from the garden. God could have redeemed them and sent them back to the garden, but He didn't for two reasons: God always wants our future to be bigger than our past, and God always moves forward."

On June 14, as we open a new School of Leaders in over 30 years, I want to particularly thank Sue Tornatore, Tom Castaldo, Vito Porpora, Deacon Bill Castellane, and Father Bill Cosgrove who worked so diligently to help make this possible. Also our gratitude to Father Bill for providing the space at St. Augustine, 140 Maple Ave., New City, NY 10956. The School will be held every second Saturday from 10 am to 12 pm, refreshment (9:30 am) Secretariat (12:30 pm). It will be a place for spiritual growth and to learn more about our movement, to communicate with each other and all our Ultreya representatives, and to provide opportunities to share your input and help in growing our movement. All are invited and encouraged to attend. Please read more details in Sue's following article.

I also want to thank Margaret Frisch and Al Lett who worked so creatively these past seven years to bring us this wonderful newsletter and now Tom Kane who takes up the challenge. But most of all, I want to thank each of you, for all that you do each day, to fulfill our Cursillo Mission: "To have a Christianizing influence on our environments by making friends, being friends and bringing friends to Christ".

In Pope Francis' Lenten Message to us we read: "In union with Jesus, we can courageously open up new paths of evangelization and human promotion." Let us always remember our Cursillo vision: "To bring the best reality of the Good News that God loves us through Jesus Christ."

DeColores,

John DeJulio
Lay Director

Cursillo in the News

An article about Cursillo appeared this past March in Catholic New York (3/6/14). The article, "Cursillo: A School of Renewal", is a witness by Cursillista Rob Ryser (Men's Weekend #206, September 26-29, 2014). Rob is a parishioner of Saint Patrick's in Bedford. The article is reprinted on page 13 courtesy of Catholic New York and Rob Ryser.

New Midtown Manhattan Group
Reunion / Ultreya

A new group reunion hopefully growing into a full-fledged Ultreya has just started up in Midtown Manhattan at Holy Innocent's Parish on 37th street between Broadway and 7th Avenue. In addition to Father Louie, who made his weekend many years ago, the group consists primarily of New Cursillistas from the past few weekends. We would love to welcome any Cursillistas interested in grouping after work during the week. Although a set day of the month has not been selected yet, the group does meet at about 4:45 and is generally finished by 6:30. There is great fellowship and sharing. Most are new to the Community. If interested please contact David Riggio at 914-629-7299 or Tom Castaldo at 917-992-6911. We can also be reached via email at davadips@yahoo.com or Tcast71716@aol.com. We hope to hear from you soon. God Bless

The New School of Leaders

This June something exciting is about to begin, the NEW School of Leaders! This is your opportunity: to join together with fellow Cursillistas, in the climate of group reunion, to seek to be more committed and united, and to accelerate the living of what is fundamental for being Christian in yourselves, the Cursillo movement and in your environments. That is what is so vital and essential about the new School of Leaders.

On June 14, 2014 the first School of Leaders will be held at St. Augustine's parish, 140 Maple Avenue, New City, New York from 10:00 to 12:00 noon. There will be refreshments starting around 9:30 or so. When you get there, park in the parking lot, the school will be to your right and the church will be to your left. We are meeting in the church, in the room under the sanctuary. There is an elevator as well as stairs to go down to the room.

Over the last few months, I have had the privilege of going to many of the Ultreyas all over the archdiocese. I have found the love of Christ, the generosity of sharing and living the Cursillo life, in the wonderful people who love this movement. That is why I am so excited to have the New School of Leaders get started so that all of you can meet the loving people I have had the chance to meet and start to get to know better. The beauty of the School of Leaders is that it wants all of its members to bring their own individual talents and gifts together in one place so that we can teach each other and learn from each other. An authentic school is there only if there is authentic personal freedom, so that all who attend can hear the proclamations of truth and personally decide to listen, discern, and act on what is studied there.

Our first area of study will be the study of what is fundamental for being Christian. If you look at most of the Cursillo literature, this is a topic at the center of the movement. It makes a wonderful starting topic so that we can all learn and journey onward from the same starting point. Father Bill Cosgrove and Deacon Bill Castellane will be guiding us on this journey and I am sure it will lead to wonderful questions and discussions. Our first topic for the technique talk will be on the "why" for the School of Leaders. Then over the next five months we will move onto the topic of friendship, another cornerstone of the Cursillo movement. These talks will focus in on friendship as Eduardo Bonin saw it; with self, with Christ and with others.

As well as continuing on our faith journey, the School of Leaders gives the opportunity for us to serve our Cursillo community. During the meeting you can volunteer your assistance in any of the three sections; Pre-Cursillo, Cursillo, and Post-Cursillo. Here committees will form with common interests to help each section function to its highest potential. Your help can be as little or as much as you are able to give. Here great discussions and ideas will be explored and worked on. At the first School of Leaders each section chairperson will present just what their section is about and what their committees will be working on. For those of you who are Ultreya Reps, instead of attending the center meetings as you have before, you will now be coming to the School of Leaders. In the Post-Cursillo section there is a committee for the Ultreya Reps to meet and work on Ultreyas and small group reunions. Here you can make friends, share ideas, and encourage each other in your work as Ultreya Reps.

One thing to remember is that the School of Leaders is not a business meeting. All decisions are made at the Secretariat. The Secretariat will meet one half hour after the School of Leaders. Here the section chair people will bring into discussion what their sections are doing. You are free to attend and discuss with them. The final votes on any issues are made by the Secretariat. So if you wish to join us just bring a bag lunch and come to the meeting!

Come to the School of Leaders and be a part of the service and love of a community united in the love of Christ, walking together to bring Christ in to the center of all of our lives, the Cursillo Movement, and all of our individual environments. I want to personally encourage and invite each and each of you to come and participate in the School of Leaders. Get Excited!!!

Sue Tornatore

Lenten Ultreya Witness

There are no words adequate enough to describe the profound influence that Cursillo has had in my life. I'm forever thankful to those who led me there and for those wonderful Blessings God has put in my life meaning the beautiful friendships I've made in Cursillo.

Before my weekend my mind was filled with confusion, doubt and fear, my heart was afraid to trust and my soul was searching for a proverbial serenity ship to come in. My faith was seriously lacking and instead of having peace in my life, my life was all in pieces. I'd like to use the imagery that best describes the before Cursillo me as a small boat caught in a storm of a raging sea of trials and tribulations. There was no beacon of light to forewarn me of imminent danger and no captain to bring me safely to shore.

Often I would look up to the sky and start shouting "Where are you now?" "Why aren't you helping me?" and "Are you sure this isn't more than I can handle?"

When I came to Cursillo I had little hope, no expectations and a lot of what did I get myself into? However, with all those feelings churning inside me I felt an immediate connection from the minute I walked through the door and to this very minute with all of you.

I felt a sense of belonging and a feeling like this could be a good thing.

This connection continued as I listened to the Rollos. Things started falling into place. As I listened I heard something I took to heart, something I could relate to and something I never heard before. Then it happened! The answers that I had been seeking were right in front of me and for the first time I felt the fire of God's love consume me through the power of the Holy Spirit.

I found that through all the pain and suffering I wasn't alone and wasn't forgotten. It all had a purpose, a divine purpose. You see God uses tragedy to show us our profound need for Him and to draw us into a closer relationship with Him. His dying on the cross and His resurrection was for the forgiveness of sins and so we will trust Him and the fact that no matter what -- He loves us and always will. And there is nothing we could ever do to stop Him from loving us. And in the good times, the not so good times and what the heck is going on now times, my Lord and Savior Jesus Christ is and always will be right by my side holding onto me in the midst of those storms. All I have to do is say, "Lord I trust you because I know life creates these challenges but you complete them according to your perfect plan." Knowing this whom or what should I fear?

So now when I'm distressed I call out to my Captain Jesus Christ ask Him to throw down his holy anchor and to bring me safely ashore so that I may find the peace and serenity I long for...His anchor of unconditional, steadfast and eternal love.

Every day I try to spread this message and important truth to all those who will listen and to those who won't.

Every day I strive to be someone whose life and words are living proof of God's love. I want everyone to know that if we open our hearts to God our Father, He will cast away all fears and doubts and will lift our spirits higher than ever before. He is the one and only true constant in our lives and no matter what obstacle we are facing if we believe in His power and trust Him with all our heart he will never fail us. He is everything to me and He is everything I'll ever need. If we choose to have this intimate relationship and personal friendship with Him we will be free. Our minds will be put at ease knowing that if we learn to love and respond in faith to reach our true self to be Christ-like we can begin to understand God's love and to live in that love. And by dedicating our lives to God and truly accept His plan for us than we will have the power to love and serve as Jesus did.

De Colores,

The Importance of Ultreya

The word Ultreya signifies "onward" or "proceed further on." The Ultreya in its totality is the sharing of our Christian life. We share through our living witness of the transparent Christ in our small world – our daily environment – living through Christ, with Christ and in Christ.

The Ultreya is the gathering of the Groups or the Reunion of the Group Reunions. The Groups and their members participate in it for the same reasons they go to the Friendship Group Reunions: to share what everybody and every Group lives.

For more information, refer to the National Cursillo Center Mailing 2012 titled, "The Ultreya And Its Importance To The Person" (February, 2012).

NY Archdiocesan Cursillo Picnic

Sunday July 13, 2014 (12:00 Noon)
Bowdoin Park, Pavilion 4
Sheafe Road, Wappingers Falls, New York

This will be a family affair. There are covered picnic tables, a playground and swings for the kids and even a field for those who want to play baseball, etc. There will be a grill available but you can bring your own.

Please bring a dessert for the sharing table. Also, of course, bring your food and drink. Alcohol is allowed (we acquired a permit for this day). It might also be wise to bring lawn chairs, as picnic tables tend to get a little uncomfortable after a while. (There are bathrooms right in the pavilion for those who might be wondering)

Just an FYI, due to the costs of renting the pavilion, we will be having a 50/50 raffle.

If you have any questions, please call Jeanette Fitch: 845-463-4336

Also, if you do plan on attending, please let her know so we can get an idea of how many people we are planning for.

Cursillo: A School of Renewal

By ROB RYSER

(Reprinted from Catholic New York, 3/6/2014)

The older I get, the more I want to be new. I know I sound like a commercial, but it's true.

Whether it's cyclical such as a New Year's Eve resolution or it's sacramental such as baptism or confirmation, our lives are punctuated by newness.

I want to be new not because I'm totally unworthy the way I am but because the interior burdens and the external circumstances that prevent me from living like a newlywed in spring make me feel powerless and old.

I'm capable of appreciating that each morning is a new creation, but how do I harness the promise and the purpose of this daily renewal and make it my own?

The answer for me is uncomplicated, thanks to a special weekend experience called Cursillo, although the answer requires a confession and a bit of an autobiographical explanation.

It's true that I'm a convert to Catholicism. Growing up in Chicago as a nihilist and dealing with that nothingness through substance abuse until I was either going to die or I was going to accept a second chance, I know how blessed I am to be alive. But I also know that my deep desire to be new is not so different from people who have grown up in the faith.

Over the last 20 years as a professional writer, a college professor and a father of eight children in northern Westchester, I have experienced the fire of spiritual revival and the power of lifestyle revolution and the renaissance of solidarity with others working for change from the inside out.

But I have to confess that as much as I was enjoying the gift of sobriety and faith interiorly, I was cautious with it exteriorly. I had separated my sacred life from my secular life, and the imbalance between my inner person and my public person made my soul feel old.

Then about six months ago in the basement of my church where I was meeting with a group of guys about starting a men's ministry, I was sharing this frustration, and my pastor suggested a Cursillo weekend. My pastor said that he himself had made a Cursillo weekend decades earlier, and it remained the most pivotal moment in his spiritual life, because he learned how to move the knowledge of God's love from his head into his heart.

"What's Cursillo like?" one of the men asked.

"It's a lot like what we're doing right now," our pastor said.

What were we really doing except sharing our desire to integrate our faith life with our everyday life?

I can only speak for myself when I say that my Cursillo weekend was the most extraordinary gathering of ordinary men I've ever seen.

There I was in a Franciscan retreat house with 20 men like me who were there for the first time, and an equal number of men who were running the weekend as well as clergy there for support.

Then something remarkable happened. We started talking about the essence of God's love. And the more we talked about God's love, the more I felt it inside. The more I felt it inside the more I wanted to give it out, and the more I could see God in others around me.

Before I knew it, I was feeling like a new creation. I made a decision that I wanted to feel that way all the time.

The guys on my Cursillo weekend taught me that before I can share God's love, I have to allow it to overflow in me. And once it's overflowing, it's easier to share it with others because there is more than enough love for everybody.

I also learned that the Cursillo weekend is only the beginning. I have a simple and proven practice of growing in love through piety, study and action. And I have a whole community of men and women in the Cursillo movement both here in the archdiocese and across the country and beyond—who meet regularly to renew our world with God's love.

I learned that love is boundless. That's what makes love eternal. The great thing about eternity is it never gets old.

(Rob is a parishioner of Saint Patrick's in Bedford.)
